FUND MANAGER'S REVIEW, OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

As expected, the Federal Reserve (Fed) left the interest rates unchanged in 4.25%-4.5% range. The strong economy and uncertainties over the impacts of Trump's policies on inflation and growth means the Fed will need to take a "wait-and-see" approach. United States (U.S.) inflation gauge, Personal Consumption Expenditure (PCE) Index inched up to 2.6% in December 2024, the highest rate in seven months, from 2.4% in November although it came in line with expectations. Meanwhile, unemployment rate ticked lower to 4.1% in December, from 4.2% in November, reflecting economic resilience.

On local front, according to statistic office's advance estimate, the Malaysian economy grew 4.8% in Q4 2024 from 5.3% in Q3 2024 amidst slower growth in the manufacturing and construction sectors while the services sector maintained its solid momentum. Elsewhere, the headline inflation moderated further to 1.7% in December, down from 1.8% in November 2024, bringing the annual inflation rate for 2024 to 1.8%. Similarly, core inflation also trended downward, rising by 1.6%.

U.S. Treasury (UST) market closed slightly firmer despite Fed pause and positive economic data. The yields on the 10-year notes were down 3 basis points (bps) to 4.54%. Local government bonds yields settled flat to marginally firmer amidst a steady UST performance. The 10-year Malaysian Government Securities (MGS) yield stood at 3.81%.

The global equity markets presented a mixed picture in January 2025. Developed markets demonstrated notable resilience, driven by several key factors. The U.S. experienced a significant surge in major indices (+4.7% for the Dow Jones, +2.7% for the S&P 500), fuelled by expectations of multiple interest rate cuts from the Fed throughout 2025, robust earnings reports from technology giants, and easing concerns regarding potential trade tariffs. Similarly, European markets showed positive performance, closing with Germany DAX, France CAC40 and FTSE 100 recorded gains of 6-9% in January attributed to the European Central Bank's (ECB) projection of inflation aligning with its 2% target by late summer, along with indications of further easing measures.

Conversely, Asia-Pacific markets displayed more varied results. While South Korea's equity market saw a robust increase (+4.9%), Taiwan experienced a notable downturn (-21.71%). This decline was primarily attributed to concerns about potential U.S. tariffs and export restrictions, particularly impacting the technology sector. This divergence highlights the region's susceptibility to geopolitical influences and the uneven recovery dynamics across different economies within the region. Overall, the global economic landscape remains complex, and regional variations underscore the importance of diversified investment strategies for managing risk and capturing potential opportunities.

The Malaysian equity market experienced a decline in January 2025, with the FTSE Bursa Malaysia KLCI (FBMVKLCI) index falling by 5.2% to close at 1,556.92 points. This downturn reflects a confluence of factors impacting investor sentiment. Uncertainty surrounding global policy shifts, particularly potential trade tariff adjustments, contributed to a cautious market outlook. Geopolitical tensions in various regions, including ongoing conflicts in Ukraine and the Middle East, alongside a slowdown in the Chinese economy, further dampened investor confidence. The introduction of DeepSeek, a new technology platform, also added to market volatility.

Foreign investors continued their net selling trend for the third consecutive month, with a significant net outflow of RM3.1 billion in January. This sustained outflow of foreign capital exerted downward pressure on the market. Within the Malaysian market, Shariah indices lagged their conventional counterparts, while mid-to-small-cap indices displayed relatively better resilience during the month. The overall performance underscores the sensitivity of the Malaysian market to both global and domestic economic conditions, highlighting the need for a well-diversified investment strategy that considers various market segments and potential risks.

Our dynamic Shariah-compliant equity investment strategy adapts to market volatility by focusing on fundamentally strong companies and actively managing our portfolio based on market trends and economic indicators to optimize returns and mitigate risk.
