

BIMB i FLEXI FUND

Fund Fact Sheet | APRIL 2023

ALL DATA AS AT 31 MARCH 2023 UNLESS OTHERWISE STATED

FUND MANAGER'S REVIEW

The FBMS Index was down by 0.75% due to increased financial market risk from the sudden collapse of Credit Suisse of Switzerland as well as Signature Bank and Silicon Valley Bank of US during the month. The Fund's NAV was down by 1.29% on 1-month basis and underperformed its benchmark by 1.03% as the fund's holdings in growth-oriented stock faced some sell off due to investor's risk off attitude towards the banking crisis in March.

On the local front, despite a weaker set of 1Q earnings performance from E&E sector, most players indicates that things should improve gradually from April onwards due to positive impact from China's revenge spending as well as the ending of inventory correction cycle. Therefore, the Fund will maintain its exposure in technology stocks to position for future rebounds as US Fed rate hike pace eases further into 2023 as well as positive GDP growth outlook for the local market aided by a full rebound of the tourism industry. Tactically we are also increasing our exposure in glove related counters to position for possible share price appreciation potential 6 month down the road on easing of price war within the industry.
